

National Championship closing date restriction

Nationals held in early November have pushed our fall trial schedule too early in the fall and because of warm weather negatively affected our fall field trials. This year the 2nd day of the Platte River Fall trial experienced 92 degree temperature. This is way too hot to be running our field trial dogs. Green grass and hot weather conditions have affected many Fall field trials this year.

I propose we have no Open National final closing date before November 15 of the year the National is held.
